AOL Cuts Strike Deep in Va.

WASHINGTON | America Online Inc., the nation's biggest Internet service, began cutting 750 jobs on Tuesday, more than half at the firm's Northern Virginia headquarters, company officials said.

About 5,000 people work in AOL's offices near Dulles International Airport in Loudoun County.

AOL workers in Ohio, California and New York also were affected, officials said. Employees across the company's operations, from technology to marketing, were among those who lost their jobs.

AOL's corporate parent, Time Warner Inc., announced its plans to eliminate jobs at the Internet firm a month ago, when the company announced its third quarter financial results.

The job cuts come at a time when the company's online service is losing hundreds of thousands of subscribers every quarter to faster or cheaper competitors. In its third quarter, AOL lost 646,000 subscribers, primarily among dial-up Internet users. The losses brought AOL's U.S. subscriber base down to 22.7 million, some 2 million less than it had one year earlier. DAVID A. VISE (THE WASHINGTON POST)

Intel Staff Harassed By Troops

Memos: officials who saw prisoner abuse faced threats

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO | U.S. special forces accused of abusing prisoners in Iraq threatened Defense Intelligence Agency personnel who saw the mistreatment and once confiscated photos of a prisoner who had been punched in the face, according to U.S. government memos released Tuesday by the American Civil Liberties Union.

The special forces also monitored e-mails sent by defense personnel and ordered them "not to talk to anyone" in the United States about what they saw, said a memo written by the Defense Intelligence Agency chief, who complained to his Pentagon bosses about the harassment.

Prisoners arriving at a detention center in Baghdad had "burn marks on their backs" as well as bruises and some complained of kidney pain, according to the June 25, 2004 memo.

FBI agents also reported seeing detainees at Abu Ghraib subjected to sleep deprivation, humiliation and forced nudity between October and December 2003 — when the most serious abuses allegedly took place in a scandal that remains under investigation.

The memos reveal behind-the-scenes tensions between the FBI and U.S. military and intelligence task forces running prisoner interrogations as the Bush administration sought better intelligence to fight terrorists and the deadly Iraq insurgency. PAISLEY DODDS (AP)

SHEEP | Wool's Gold Pampered Australian sheep that listen to Italian opera have set a new record for the world's most expensive wool, wool grower Barry Walker said on Monday. A 201-pound bale of fine wool was sold to Italian designer Loro Piana for $176,300, to be turned into 50 suits that will retail for about $12,000 each, Fairfax New Zealand News Service reported. Walker is one of five farmers in the Snowy Mountains who contribute their best sheep to the special fine-wool flock. (EXPRESS) EyeOpeners | Page 2

PROMOTIONS

One Way to Raise Customer Profiles

Besides cheap food, an Austrian discount grocery chain is offering bargain Botox treatments in an advertisement this week. A page of the Plus advertisement leaflet is devoted ed to the offer, which promises the first 100 respondents Botox treatments for $198 instead of the usual cost of more than $300. Dr. Wolfgang Pirker's office in Vienna offers the service; on Tuesday, the second day of the offer, he said the procedures had sold out for the day. The Vienna Medical Association has filed a complaint against the campaign. (AP)

DOOMSDAY CULTS

Spending Like There's No Tomorrow

For four years, a 9,000-member sect in Utah and Arizona that believed civilization was about to end borrowed money until they broke the bank. Members of the Mormon splinter group — the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints — took out bad loans from the Bank of Ephraim in Ephraim, Utah, ultimately collapsing the 99-year-old bank, a shutdown that cost shareholders and depositors millions. Keith Church, the bank president, said sect members had taken an oath in 2000 to borrow as much money as they could to prepare for the day that civilization collapsed. At one point, the sect had borrowed around $18 million. (AP)

If you build it ... well, maybe they'll come. Architects Series-Series-Maitre de Vallon suggested this puzzling idea, one of 454 "Olympic Landmark" designs presented Tuesday at the Arsenal Pavillon in Paris, Reuters reported. The entry was part of an international architectural competition to "put [the Olympic site] in perspective ... within the city and for the future," according to its Web site. Paris 2012, the group behind the city's bid to host the 2012 games, is sponsoring the contest. (EXPRESS)

DEGREES

With a Minor In Hairball Studies

Pennsylvania on Monday sued an online university for allegedly selling bogus degrees, including an MBA awarded to a cat. Trinity Southern University in Texas sent more than 18,000 e-mails, which appeared to originate from Internet servers of Pennsylvania companies and institutions, linking to the school's Web site to sell degrees, officials said. Investigators paid $299 for a degree for Colby Nolan, a deputy attorney general's cat, claiming he had baby-sitting and retail experience.

The cat received a master of business administration degree, and a transcript listed his course work and 3.5 grade-point average, officials said.

House Approves Intel Overhaul Bill

Landmark legislation restructures key agencies

WASHINGTON | The House voted Tuesday to overhaul a national intelligence network that failed to prevent the Sept. 11 attacks, combining control of 15 spy agencies under one official, intensifying aviation and border security and allowing more wiretaps of suspected terrorists.

"We have come a long way toward taking steps that will ensure that we do not see another September 11th," said House Rules chairman David Dreier, R-Calif. Now "we have in place a structure that will ensure that we have the intelligence capability to deal with conflicts on the ground wherever they exist."

The House voted 336-75 to send the Senate legislation to create a new national intelligence director, establish a counterterrorism center, set priorities for intelligence gathering and tighten U.S. borders. The measure would implement the biggest change to U.S. intelligence since the creation of the CIA after World War II to deal with the newly emerging Cold War.

The new structure should help the nation's 15 intelligence agencies work together to protect the country from attacks like the ones that killed nearly 3,000 people in New York, Washington and Pennsylvania, lawmakers said.

The Senate plans to pass the bill Wednesday and send it to President Bush. JESSE J. HOLLAND (AP)

Leaders Faulted in Air Force Scandal

Academy commanders blamed for sexual assault issues in report

WASHINGTON | Air Force Academy commanders over the past 10 years failed to recognize and deal with the seriousness of sexual assaults against female cadets, according to the Pentagon's inspector general.

In a memo to Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld that was released Tuesday, Inspector General

Joseph E. Schmitz wrote, "We conclude that the overall root cause of the sexual assault problems at the Air Force Academy was the failure of successive chains of command over the past 10 years to acknowledge the severity of the problem."

The Pentagon did not release his full report.

In response to this and other sexual assault issues in the armed forces, David Chu, undersecretary of defense for personnel and readiness, said the Pentagon would soon implement a new policy protecting the confidentiality of people who report being sexually assaulted.

The scandal at the Air Force Academy, in Colorado Springs, Colo., led to the dismissal of the academy's leadership and wholesale reviews of military policy on sexual assault.

Last year, nearly 150 women came forward with accusations that they had been sexually assaulted by fellow cadets between 1993 and 2003. (AP)

Bush Looks to Rally Troops

In visit to Marine base, president predicts further violence in Iraq

CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF. | President Bush, appearing before cheering U.S. forces Tuesday, declared that terrorists won't be able to control Iraq's destiny because "free people will never choose their own enslavement."

Bush said that as election day there approaches Jan. 30, "we can expect further violence" but also said that the balloting must go forward.

A large crowd of Marines clad in tan-and-green camouflage uniforms bellowed "oo-rah," as Bush, who donned a tan military-style jacket with epaulets, thanked U.S. forces. He said the bravery and sacrifice of the troops has made America safer.

"You see, the terrorists understand what is at stake," the president said. "They know they have no future in a free Iraq."

Traveling Abroad? N.M. Company Says 'Go Canadian'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. | Planning a European vacation and don't want to talk American politics with an inquisitive foreigner? A New Mexico T-shirt company suggests going Canadian.

For $24.95, T-shirtKing.com offers the "Go Canadian" package, full of just the kind of things an American traveler can use to keep a vacation free of U.S. politics.

There's a Canadian flag T-shirt, a Canadian flag lapel pin and a Canadian patch for luggage or a backpack. There's also a quick reference guide — "How to Speak Canadian, Eh?" — on answering questions about Canada.

This package of Canadian garb offers political cover to American travelers.

It is the brainchild of employees at the Mountainair, N.M.-based company known for comical T-shirts it sells on the Internet.

"It's not meant as a slight against the United States or Canada," explained T-shirtKing.com President Bill Broadbent. "It was meant as something Republicans could give their Democrat friends to say 'C'est la vie.' ... But maybe not c'est la vie because that's a French word." (AP)

U.S. to Import Flu Shots in Hopes of Easing Shortage

WASHINGTON | The government said Tuesday that flu vaccine manufactured in Germany was safe enough to be used in the United States and that as many as 4 million doses would be available to alleviate the U.S. shortage.

Health and Human Services Secretary Tommy Thompson said the government was immediately buying 1.2 million doses of the vaccine, called Fluorix, which will be available this month, and said that British manufacturer GlaxoSmithKline had agreed to make about 3 million more doses available later.

Health officials also were hoping to buy vaccine from a Canadian manufacturer, but that company said it would sell its extra 1.2 million doses in Canada. The company made its decision at the request of the Canadian government. (AP)

Karzai Takes Helm in Afghanistan

Cheney, Rumsfeld among guests at swearing-in KABUL, AFGHANISTAN | Hamid Karzai was sworn in Tuesday as Afghanistan's first popularly elected president, calling for sustained help from the international community to bolster a young democracy that still faces the twin threats of terrorism and drugs.

The U.S.-backed leader took the oath of office in a solemn ceremony in a restored hall of the war-damaged former royal palace. Vice President Dick Cheney, the highest-ranking U.S. official to visit since the fall of the Taliban in 2001, and Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld were among the guests.

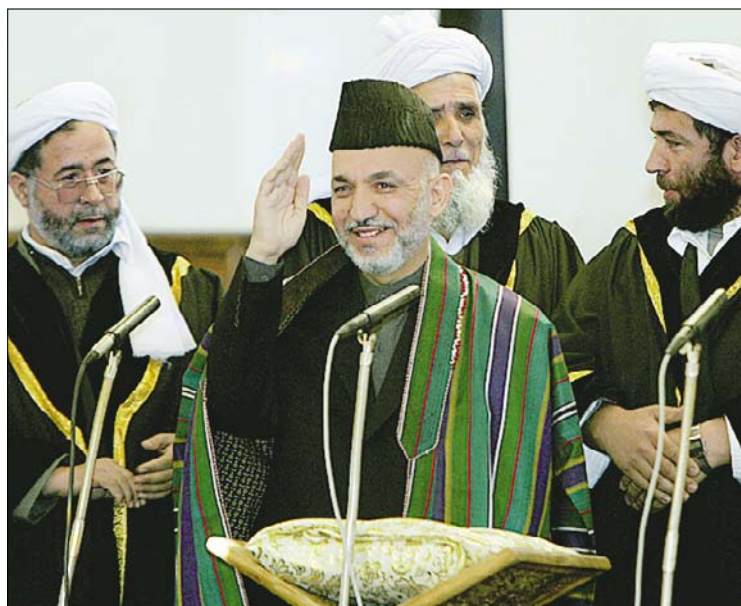

Kabul was calm amid massive security for the ceremony, but overnight attacks near the Pakistani frontier left 12 dead, providing a strong reminder of threats to the nation's stability.

In his inaugural address, Karzai said the hopes of ordinary Afghans would drive him during what is likely to be a tough five-year term.

"We have now left a hard and dark past behind us and today we are opening a new chapter in our history in a spirit of friendship with the international community," he said in Pashto and Dari, Afghanistan's two main languages.

He said the fight against terrorism was "not yet over" and urged continued international aid and cooperation to defeat increasing links between extremists and drug-trafficking. STEPHEN GRAHAM (AP)

Combat Death Toll in Iraq Nears 1,000

Neighboring countries doing too little to halt insurgents, official says

BAGHDAD | A top Iraqi official accused the country's neighbors Tuesday of doing too little to stop foreigners from joining the brutal insurgency, while the U.S. combat death toll neared 1,000 with the killing of a soldier in Baghdad.

In a speech to the Iraqi National Council, the deputy prime minister, Barham Saleh, said he was losing patience with Iraq's neighbors. He didn't single out any governments, but noted that Iraqi police had arrested a Syrian driving a car bomb packed with artillery shells and other explosives.

"There is evidence indicating that some groups in some neighboring countries are playing a direct role in the killing of the Iraqi people and such a thing is not acceptable to us," Saleh said. "We have reached a stage in which if we do not see a real response from those countries, then we are obliged to take a decisive stance."

Iraqi leaders have repeatedly called on their neighbors — particularly Syria and Iran — to guard their borders more closely. Those countries have expressed concern that instability in Iraq poses a threat to the entire region.

The American soldier slain Tuesday was gunned down by small-arms fire while on patrol in Baghdad. As of 10 a.m. Tuesday, the Pentagon Web site listed the number of combat deaths as 999; it was not clear if the soldier was included. (AP)

Annan Picks Up Support

U.N. chief's allies out in force amid calls for his resignation in U.S.

UNITED NATIONS | Secretary-General Kofi Annan on Tuesday rejected calls for his resignation from several U.S. lawmakers, saying he would "carry on" at the helm of the United Nations for the next two years.

Several U.S. legislators have called for Annan to step down amid allegations of corruption in the U.N.'s oil-for-food program.

Annan said Tuesday he plans to concentrate on reform of the United Nations in the last two years of his term. "I have quite a lot of work to do and I'm carrying on with my work," Annan said when asked when he would respond to those calling for his resignation. Asked whether he was definitely saying he would not resign, Annan replied, "I think you heard my answer."

President Bush refused to back Annan last week, but his closest ally, British Prime Minister Tony Blair, gave the secretary-general a strong endorsement Monday, saying he is doing "a fine job ... often in very difficult circumstances."

The French and Spanish leaders telephoned their support Tuesday and Arab nations sent a letter, joining the 54 African nations and the 25-member European Union in backing the secretary-general.

Elaborate Hamas Attack Shatters Calm in Gaza

Militant group claims responsibility for bomb that kills Israeli soldier

GAZA CITY | Hamas militants broke three weeks of relative calm in Gaza on Tuesday, setting off a bomb that killed an Israeli soldier and triggered Israeli retaliation that left four Palestinian gunmen dead.

Palestinian officials hoped to stop attacks against Israelis before the Jan. 9 election to replace Yasser Arafat, and Israel had refrained from military offensives in Gaza after Arafat's Nov. 11 death as a gesture to the interim leadership. That ended after the bombing Tuesday near a key Gaza-Israel crossing point.

Hamas claimed its men dug a tunnel to booby-trap a chicken coop, then lured troops to the area with the help of a double agent and exploded the bomb, killing an Israeli and his bomb-sniffing dog. It was the first fatal Palestinian attack in Gaza since Arafat's death.

Mushir al-Masri, a Hamas spokesman, said the attack was a "natural response to the continuous Israeli crimes against our people and against our fighters." Hamas said two members involved in the ambush were killed.

Interim Palestinian leader Mahmoud Abbas has been urging militant groups like Hamas to stop attacks against Israelis and allow for a calm presidential election campaign. IBRAHIM BARZAK (AP)

EN ROUTE TO MANILA: The U.S. military said Tuesday it is sending 600 Marines and Navy personnel to the Philippines to assist in recovery efforts after recent storms left hundreds dead, destroyed 30,000 homes and displaced 200,000 from their homes. The Marines will also provide potable water, medicine, tents, blankets and generators, the Pentagon said. (AP)

Deadlock Over Reforms in Ukraine

KIEV, UKRAINE | Lawmakers fought over and failed to pass legal reforms aimed at ensuring a fair rematch of Ukraine's fraudulent presidential runoff, accusing each other Tuesday of acting in bad faith.

Several thousand supporters of Viktor Yushchenko, impatient over lack of progress in approving the electoral amendments sought for the Dec. 26 repeat vote, besieged parliament. They say the changes will close loopholes for fraud that marred the Nov. 21 runoff and prompted the Supreme Court to cancel the victory of Kremlin-backed Prime Minister Viktor Yanukovich.

But a loose coalition of communists, socialists and pro-government factions in parliament agreed to pass the electoral changes only together with constitutional changes, which would turn some presidential powers over to parliament.

Yushchenko has balked at the changes, saying that allies of outgoing President Leonid Kuchma want to weaken his authority should he win. ANNA MELNICHUK (AP)

What Does Human Capital Mean? Investing in People.

The Graduate School, USDA has created two new courses to help agencies meet the strategic human capital management requirements. Whether you are a front-line supervisor or an HR manager, our newest sub-curriculum can help you support your agency's mission.

Introduction to Strategic Human Capital Management

January 19-20, 2005

This course helps leaders, supervisors, managers and HR specialists strategically meet the human capital goals outlined in the President's Management Agenda by equipping them with the skills they need to align HR goals, performance and budget with their agencies' missions, to use metrics to identify needs and outcomes and to measure progress toward those identified outcomes.

Workforce Analysis and Planning Workshop

January 26-27, 2005

Learn how the human resources office can help align your organization's human capital program with its current mission and programmatic goals. Develop long-term strategies for acquiring, developing and retaining staff. Identify gaps in the skills and competencies your agency needs and determine ways to build necessary capabilities.

No Motive Yet for Arson

Investigators comb Indian Head land in search of clues to fires

INDIAN HEAD, MD. | Investigators have not ruled out ecoterrorism — or any other motive — as the cause of the arson that destroyed a dozen homes at a newly-constructed upscale development that had been opposed by environmentalists, a fire official said Tuesday.

"We have not been able to establish at this point any motive," said Faron Taylor, a deputy state fire marshal.

FBI spokesman Barry Maddox said the agency was not aware of any claims of credit by any group for the fires. Maddox also said he was not aware of any recent activity in the Washington area by radical environmental groups such as the Earth Liberation Front.

ATF spokesman Mike Campbell said investigators are not looking into a link with the serial arsonist believed responsible for 45 fires in the Washington region since March 2003. Investigators have concluded that seven of the fires Monday were intentionally set, Taylor said.

About 100 investigators from numerous local, state and federal agencies, including the FBI and ATF, are investigating the blazes, which also damaged 14 homes. Officials originally reported 29 homes were damaged, but lowered that figure Tuesday. STEPHEN MANNING (AP)

Man Stabbed at Agriculture Dept.

WASHINGTON | A worker was stabbed Tuesday inside a Department of Agriculture building during an altercation with another employee, authorities said. The victim was hospitalized with injuries that weren't life-threatening, and the search continued for the attacker.

Marc Raimondi with the Department of Homeland Security said the Federal Protective Service was investigating. "We have no reason to believe this was a random act of violence," Raimondi said. The victim and the alleged attacker are contract employees. It was not clear what type of work they were doing.

The altercation occurred in the basement, but the two men had access to the entire building, said Dennis O'Connor of the Federal Protective Service. (AP)

Area Serial Arsonist Hits Again

BLADENSBURG, MD. | Arson investigators on the scene of an apartment fire Tuesday said it was likely the work of a serial arsonist who has now struck 45 times in the Washington, D.C., region.

The fire broke out just before 5 a.m. in the stairwell of a four-unit building at the Hilltop Manor Apartments.

Upstairs residents were hanging out their windows when firefighters arrived, said a spokesman for Prince George's County Fire/EMS Department. Two residents drove themselves to the hospital with minor smoke inhalation.

It was the first time the arsonist struck since Sept. 23. The regional Arson Task Force is offering a $35,000 reward for information on the case. BRETT ZONGKER (AP)

Woman Injured by Boulder Thanks Hospital Workers

The woman who was nearly killed when someone hurled a boulder onto her car returned Tuesday to a Northern Virginia hospital to thank the doctors and nurses who saved her life. Daphne Gipson, 31, was on Interstate 95 in Spotsylvania County on June 7, 2003, heading home to Rochester, N.Y., when the 70-pound rock was tossed from an overpass and came through the windshield.

Nearly every bone in her face was broken. Gipson spent two months at Inova Fairfax Hospital, enduring seven operations. But Gipson said she is no longer angry with the culprit — who has never been caught. (AP)

4,400 Colgate Jobs Cut

Maker of consumer products to shutter a third of its factories

NEW YORK | Colgate-Palmolive Co., the consumer products giant behind brands like Ajax detergent and Irish Spring soap, plans to cut its world-wide work force by about 12 per-cent, or about 4,400 jobs, and close one-third of its factories as part of a four-year plan aimed at boost-ing its sales and profits. Its stock climbed nearly 8 percent.

New York-based Colgate said Tuesday it would reduce its global work force from its current level of 37,000 and close a third of its 78 factories worldwide.

The moves announced Tuesday come as the consumer products industry has been grappling with higher costs in raw materials, gas and packaging.

Colgate-Palmolive also faces increasing competition from larger rival Procter & Gamble Co., which has taken big bites of the market with an increased focus on skin-care and beauty products as well as pet care products. (AP)

Speculation Mounts Over IBM Deal

HONG KONG | China's biggest com-puter maker said Tuesday it is in acquisition talks with a major inter-national technology company, a dis-closure which comes amid reports it might buy IBM's personal com-puter business.

Lenovo Group Ltd. didn't name the company in a disclosure state-ment released Tuesday. But the Wall Street Journal, citing unidentified sources, reported Tuesday that IBM and Lenovo plan to create a new company that would own IBM's PC business with Lenovo holding a majority stake. (AP)

Arrington Plans to Practice

Washington Redskins linebacker LaVar Arrington is expected to be back on the practice field Wednesday. Arrington has missed the last ten games because of a knee injury. The three-time Pro Bowler was supposed to be out only two to four weeks after arthroscopic surgery in September but he suffered a deep bone bruise on October 25th and that has kept him from playing. ##### Plans to Market Bonds' Home-Run Chase Put on Hold

Baseball's plans to market Barry Bonds' pursuit of the Hank Aaron's home run record have been put on hold, fallout from the release of his grand jury testimony about steroids. Baseball said it had hoped MasterCard International would sponsor the promotion. Baseball already had sent the company detailed materials and artwork pitching the campaign. But a planned meeting was called off following last week's report that Bonds testified he took substances that federal prosecutors say are steroids. (AP)

Garcia Parra Stays With Cubs

Nomar Garcia Parra enjoyed his brief stay with the Chicago Cubs so much he's coming back. The five-time All-Star shortstop, who was sent to Chicago by Boston before the July 31 trading deadline last season, agreed Tuesday to an $8 million, one-year contract, a deal that also includes performance bonuses for games started and plate appearances. Nomar Garcia Parra is sticking with the Cubs, who traded for him in July.

CAVALRY: Running back Julius Jones scored the winning touchdown in the Cowboys' comeback victory over Seattle Monday.

Dallas Finds Star in Jones

Running back puts Cowboys in playoff picture

FOOTBALL | The Dallas Cowboys can only imagine how different their season might be had Julius Jones been healthy the whole time.

"It's his fault that we lost seven games," receiver Keyshawn Johnson said, smiling.

If the rookie who missed eight games keeps running like this, the Cowboys (5-7) just might sneak into the playoffs.

Jones ran for 198 yards and three touchdowns Monday night at Seattle, scoring the last on a 17-yard draw play with 32 seconds left in a 43-39 win. That was just more than a minute after Johnson's acrobatic 34-yard catch in the back of the end zone and a recovered onside kick.

With Jones back in the lineup, the Cowboys have won consecutive games for the first time since September and are still in playoff contention. He has 429 yards rushing and five touchdowns on 93 carries in three starts since returning from a broken shoulder blade suffered in his NFL debut in Week 2.

"The running back was pretty good, in case you didn't notice," coach Bill Parcells said.

Dallas, which had lost six of seven before the last two wins, still has a chance for its second-straight playoff appearance under Parcells. The Cowboys are among six 5-7 teams a game behind in the standings for the NFC's second wild-card spot.

"Hopefully, we can get up enough energy to play the last month good," Parcells said. "I've always told my teams what you do after Thanksgiving, that's what counts."

IOC Probes Jones' Steroid Charges

DOPING | The IOC opened an investigation Tuesday into doping allegations against Marion Jones, who could eventually be stripped of her five medals from the 2000 Olympics.

International Olympic Committee president Jacques Rogge set up a disciplinary commission to look into the claims made by Victor Conte, head of the California-based lab accused of illegally distributing steroids.

Conte told ABC's "20/20" that he gave Jones performance-enhancing drugs before and after the Sydney Olympics. He said he watched Jones inject herself with human growth hormone.

Jones won three gold medals and two bronze in Sydney. She repeatedly has denied ever using banned drugs, and has threatened to sue Conte for defamation.

Union to Seek Deal On Doping

Baseball players tell lawyers to try to reach accord on drug testing

BASEBALL | Baseball players gave their lawyers the go-ahead Tuesday to reach an agreement with owners on tougher testing for steroids.

After negotiations with management were outlined to the executive board of the players' association, union head Donald Fehr said the board "authorized us to attempt to conclude an agreement consistent with those discussions."

Commissioner Bud Selig repeatedly has called for more frequent testing and harsher penalties for steroid use, stepping up the intensity following reports of grand jury testimony in a steroid investigation that includes Barry Bonds, Jason Giambi and Gary Sheffield.

Gene Orza, the union's chief operating officer, said discussions toward a new agreement had advanced but the sides were still apart. Management expects talks to resume next week.

Fehr defended the current program, saying it would work if "it had been given time." Each player was tested once in 2004 between the start of spring training and the end of the regular season. BETH DEFALCO (AP)

Leinart Makes Pitch for Heisman

USC quarterback has injury to thank for his stardom on gridiron

COLLEGE FOOTBALL | Matt Leinart was quite a baseball prospect growing up, showing so much promise as a left-handed pitcher that scouts took notice before high school.

"I threw heat, man," he recalled with a smile. "That's really what I wanted to do. And then, I blew my shoulder out."

Leinart would never pitch again, instead changing his focus to football.

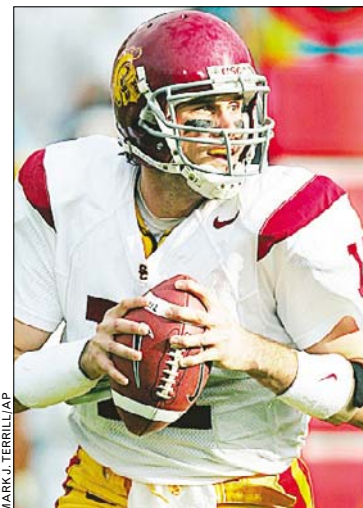

Good move.

Since succeeding Carson Palmer as Southern California's starting quarterback 15 months ago, Leinart has been stellar, guiding the top-ranked Trojans to a 25-1 record.

Last year, he passed for 3,556 yards and 38 touchdowns with only nine interceptions in leading the Trojans to a 12-1 record and The Associated Press national championship.

Some said the presence of Mike Williams and Keary Colbert, two of the country's top receivers, had a lot to do with Leinart's success.

Maybe so, but it was more of the same this year while breaking in new starting receivers. Leinart has passed for 2,990 yards and 28 touchdowns with only six interceptions in leading No. 1 USC (12-0) to the Bowl Championship Series title game in the Orange Bowl, where the Trojans will face No. 2 Oklahoma.

Matt Leinart has a 25-1 record as the starting quarterback at Southern Cal.

Leinart finished sixth in the Heisman Trophy balloting as a sophomore last season, and he's among the leading contenders for this year's award, to be presented Saturday night in New York. The finalists will be announced Wednesday.

And it all began for Leinart with that shoulder injury. "It's crazy how everything fell into place," Leinart said. JOHN NADEL (AP)

Standings through Dec. 6 games

Sprewell Gets Suspended for Lewd Fan Incident

NBA | Latrell Sprewell was suspended for one game by the NBA on Tuesday for yelling a sexual vulgarity at a female fan during a game, the latest episode of a player clashing with spectators.

The penalty was harsher than those issued in the past by the league office for on-court outbursts. The NBA has been particularly concerned about conflicts between players and fans following the brawl in Detroit 2½ weeks ago.

Sprewell responded to a female heckler with a sexually vulgar term that was clearly picked up by a court-side microphone and broadcast by television stations in Los Angeles and Minnesota. This is the latest in a series of problems for Sprewell, who was suspended for choking Golden State Warriors coach P.J. Carlesimo at practice in 1997. (AP)

Bowl-Bound Teams Don't Make Grade

COLLEGE FOOTBALL | Twenty-seven of the 56 schools with bowl-bound football teams graduated less than half their players, according to a study released Tuesday.

The annual study by the Institute of Diversity and Ethics in Sports at the University of Central Florida also showed that 39 of the schools graduated less than half of their black players.

Among the bowl teams, 51 of 55 graduated at least 40 percent of their white players, according to the study, while just 30 schools graduated at least 40 percent of their black players. Only six schools graduated a higher percentage of black players than white players.

The schools with the worst graduation rates were Pittsburgh and Texas. Syracuse, Notre Dame and Boston College had the best graduation rates. MIKE SCHNEIDER (AP)

ECO SUAVE: The Accord Hybrid combines subdued class with green engineering.

Well Hybrid

Part-electric Accord is a very fine, socially responsible vehicle

ROAD TEST | Forget Ferrari and Lamborghini. For Nader-loving, global-warming-activist, Hummer-hating Starbucks patrons, the Honda Accord Hybrid is the sexiest thing on four wheels.

It is extraordinary in its ordinari-ness. It's the same solid sedan that for years has been to suburban domesticity what Windows is to the PC — ubiquitous, reliable, invisible.

There is nothing second-tier about the Accord Hybrid system. Honda's hybrid approach revolves around its Integrated Motor Assist, or IMA, unit, essentially a big electric motor/generator/starter sandwiched between the motor and the transmission, wrapped around the output shaft. When maximum acceleration is called for, this unit draws juice from the nickel metal-hydrate battery pack.

The car also has regenerative braking, which captures kinetic energy and converts it to electrical energy to charge the battery. The Accord Hybrid has auto-stop programming; when the car is slowing to a full stop, the engine shuts off. When the throttle is opened again, the IMA unit, acting as a huge starter motor, spins the motor back up.

The Honda is quick, silly quick, Tickle-Me-Elmo quick.

Whenever the full resources of the Honda motor are not required, one bank of cylinders is deactivated. Much of the time the car is essentially a three-cylinder vehicle; a green ECO icon lights up when the car is in full-thrift mode. DAN NEIL (LOS ANGELES TIMES)

Riding Past Driving Age

Increasingly, teens don't get licenses when they turn 16

BEHIND THE WHEEL | Getting a driver's license at 16 has long been a rite of passage. The learner's permit at 15, the driving practice with the shrieking parent, the clipboard guy at the motor vehicle department administering the road test, the first sobering crash — the rush for the license is culturally enshrined.

But kids have stopped driving at 16 in the same numbers they used to. A confluence of forces has redefined the concept of "driving age."

Poorer young people, tougher licensing laws, shifting teen attitudes, protective baby boom parents, soaring auto insurance premiums — these and other factors appear to have conspired to keep not just the majority of 16-year-olds, but more teens of all ages, from driving.

Only 43 percent of all 16- and 17-year-old Americans were licensed in 2002, according to the Federal

GET ON THE BUS: Unlicensed Kayte Greenfelder, 19, couldn't afford car insurance.

Highway Administration and U.S. Census Bureau. In 1992, that figure was nearly 52 percent.

Meanwhile, in supposedly car-addicted California, teens are even less likely to be driving. Slightly fewer than 27 percent of the state's 16- and 17-year-olds were licensed last year, a figure that has been sliding since at least 1978, when it was 50.1 percent.

Even with lowered proportions of young drivers, millions of adolescents remain on the freeways, and traffic crashes still are the leading cause of death for 15- to 20-year-olds.

The decline in licensing has reached critical mass only in the last decade. SHAWN HUBLER (LOS ANGELES TIMES)

Mystery Shopper

Paper Source

3019 M Street NW; 202-298-5545

Hours: Monday-Saturday:

10-8; Sunday: 11-6

I am sorry, neighborhood schoolchildren, for I can no longer support your band/sports team/chorus by buying your wrapping paper. I will no longer be writing checks to you while attempting to keep the cats from making their escape to freedom. For, lo, it has come to pass on the Street of M, that on this day I visited Paper Source, and it is very, very cool.

● STYLE: This is not your mother's wrapping paper (it's certainly not my mother's wrapping paper, which she gets at Price Club). Japanese and batik-inspired prints were my favorites, as were the embossed prints, which would give a present that fashionable crocodile-skin look. Per-sheet prices range from $.40 to $10.

There are reams of paper and paper-related goods besides wrap: ribbon, cards, journals, photo albums and books on the first floor, with stationery, scrapbook and stamping supplies on the second. I don't scrapbook, but now I kind of want to; Paper Source's decorations are sophisticated and arty.

The store offers custom printing, too. Invites cost from $200 to $410 for 50, the minimum order. Pricey, but the designs are unique enough to make me kick myself for already having ordered my wedding invitations.

● SERVICE: Standing around in the custom-stationary section didn't attract any aid, but when I asked a staff member for help printing invitations, she was knowledgeable and friendly. Although the design book hadn't yet arrived, she directed me to paper-source.com and later tracked me down to give me a brochure and price list.

● BUREAUCRACY: Boxed cards, unused supplies, books and non-custom stationary can be returned with a receipt.

● BONUS POINTS:

The store wraps packages for $2 a pop (more for anything weirdly shaped), plus the cost of paper. The staff recommend dropping off packages for pick-up later, so incorporate that into any holiday-panicked plans.

● FINAL ANALYSIS: Friendly and funky, it's a welcome addition to a Hallmark-saturated world.

HEALTHY ADULT VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The non-profit Henry M. Jackson Foundation is conducting an investigational vaccine study at its clinic in Rockville, Maryland in collaboration with the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. This research study will evaluate an investigational vaccine to provide protection against anthrax-an important concern for U.S. public health and national security in the aftermath of terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

The investigational vaccine is not made from anthrax and study participants will not be exposed to the infectious bacteria in any way.

You may be eligible for this study if you are generally healthy and:

- 18 to 40 years old
- A citizen or permanent resident of the United States
- Not in the military or the reserves

Participants will receive study-related medical supervision, physical exams, laboratory services and tests at no charge. Compensation will be provided for the required study visits.

For more information, contact: Keisha, Kathleen or MJ at the Henry M. Jackson Foundation

for an INVESTIGATIONAL VACCINE STUDY

For Women Only Participate in a High Blood Pressure Research Study

If you are a woman between the ages of 45 and 75 and have high blood pressure you may be eligible to take part in this nationwide study.

If you qualify you may be compensated up to $1,000 for your participation.

The purpose of this research study is to evaluate the effectiveness of hormone replacement therapy (HRT) on lowering high blood pressure in post-menopausal women.

Study participation includes:

- Medical attention and care by a certified physician
- A complete physical exam at no cost to you, including mammograms and ECG's
- Study medication is available at no cost to you
- 9-12 brief visits (30-60 minutes) at the clinical center

Will my cat climb a fake tree?

Until you see how your cat reacts, you might want to support the tree with wires on either side and not hang your most precious ornaments.

Regarding cats and Christmas trees: This won't work when you're away, but my family always had success with water pistols. We'd shoot the cat as it began to get up into the tree. After a few days, all we had to do was shake the water pistol or imitate the sound of it shooting to discourage the would-be climbers.

Thanks for the ingenious idea.

My suggestion for the person worried about her cat: Avoid using anything too enticing to play with near the bottom, like tinsel or garland, and leave some tissue paper and crumpled-up wrapping paper on the floor for the cat to play with.

Great idea. Leave some toys at the bottom for your cat. Very much in the spirit of the season.

NICE ... HAND: An online gambling site polled 773 Americans and found that the Texas hold 'em opponent they'd most like to face is bodacious non-poker-player Pamela Anderson. Only 1 percent wanted to play known card-sharp Ben Affleck.

You'd Better Watch

... You'd better not touch that dial; it's time for holiday TV

SEASONAL SIGHTS | It's come to this: Even Frosty has a DVD out.

"Frosty the Snowman" is among the cartoons included in "The Original Television Christmas Classics." So is the TV tradition of packing December with hours of holiday nostalgia over?

Nope. Broadcasters and cable channels still believe in the season's magical power to attract viewers — even the umpteenth showing of "It's a Charlie Brown Christmas" and with commercials.

Among the highlights:

ANIMATION

Grandma Got Run Over by a Reindeer (8 p.m. Thu., Dec. 9, WB) Grandma is missing and Jake sets out to find her and prove Santa exists in a special based on the novelty song.

Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas (8 p.m. Fri., Dec. 10, WB) Bitter old Grinch robs Whoville of the holiday in this 1966 adaptation of the Dr. Seuss classic.

LET IT 'SNOW': Ed Cavanagh is no doubt heartwarming in the movie "Snow."

Boris Karloff voices the Grinch and the narration.

Franklin's Magic Christmas (11 a.m. Mon., Dec. 13, Noggin) When a holiday visit to the grandparents goes wrong for Franklin, he blames kid sister Harriet — then a special sleigh enters the picture.

The Story of Santa Claus (8 p.m. Sat., Dec. 18, CBS) The voices of Edward Asner, Betty White and Tim Curry are heard in this tale of a toymaker and his wife evicted from their shop by a mean landlord.

MOVIES

Naughty or Nice (8 p.m. Sat., Dec. 11, ABC) George Lopez stars in a movie about a sports radio shock jock whose life takes turn after his big change of heart.

Snow (8 p.m. Sun., Dec. 12, ABC Family) Tom Cavanagh stars in a reinvention of the Santa Claus story, playing a man with reindeer and romance issues.

Karroll's Christmas (8 p.m. Tues., Dec. 14, A&E) The ghosts of Christmas visit the wrong guy — greeting card writer Allen Karroll (Tom Everett Scott) in a comic approach to "A Christmas Carol."

Too Cool for Christmas (9 p.m. Sat.s, Dec. 18, Here! TV) A teenager (Brooke Nevin) finds holiday spirit with Santa (George Hamilton) and her two dads in the gay and lesbian channel's first original program.

A Christmas Story (8 p.m., Fri., Dec. 24, TBS) The annual 24-hour marathon of Jean Shepherd's heartwarming and wry tale.

A Christmas Carol (9 p.m. Fri., Dec. 24, NBC) A Hallmark Entertainment musical version of Dickens' classic tale stars Kelsey Grammer and features Jason Alexander and Jane Krakowski.

STOCKING STUFFERS

Entertainment Weekly's Holiday Movies (10 p.m. Sun., Dec. 12, AMC) French Stewart presents a collection of funny and touching holiday movie moments, including "holiday humbugs."

The Christmas Special Christmas Special (10 p.m. Tue., Dec. 14, Bravo) A study of TV holiday programs, ranging from 1951's reverent "Ahnmal and the Night Visitors" to the 2000 "South Park" cartoon.

Christmas in Washington (8 p.m. Wed., Dec. 15, TNT) "Dr. Phil" and wife Robin are the hosts of the annual concert, with JoJo, LeAnn Rimes, Ruben Studdard and Vanessa Williams performing.

Night of Joy

(8 p.m. Thu., Dec. 23, Pax) Christian and gospel music performed by Michael W. Smith, Steven Curtis Chapman, CeCe Winans, Jars of Clay and others. Kirk Franklin hosts.

Doing It All: Mos Def at 9:30

He started as a rapper, and he began to branch out as rappers do, but rather than go into mogulhood, Mos Def expanded his arts repertoire to become an Emmy-nominated actor. Still, his intelligent, political hip-hop is like nothing else out there.

9:30 Club, 815 V St. NW; 8:30 p.m., $35; 703-218-6500. (U St.-Cardozo)

Rapper Mos Def chose to take not Wall Street, but the arts world, by storm.

Heavy on the Pink: Erik Sandberg at Conner

Never accuse Washington-based artist Erik Sandberg of not stating the case. After all, an exhibition of his new paintings is called "In the Flesh," and they're, well, fleshy. They're also funny and grotesque and a little tragic.

Conner Contemporary Art, 1730 Connecticut Ave. NW, through Dec. 23; 202-588-8750.

Holiday History: DAR Open House

The Daughters of the American Revolution throw open their doors and allow visitors to browse DAR's elegant headquarters, hear local choirs sing Christmas carols and enjoy cider, cookies and, for the wee ones, a visit from Santa, at the DAR Christmas Open House.

Constitution Hall, 1776 D St. NW; 5:30-8 p.m., free; 202-572-0563.

Awards Go West

Rapper Kanye West sweeps nominations for music's Grammy

NODS | Producer-turned-rapper Kanye West collected a leading 10 Grammy nominations Tuesday, including album of the year for "The College Dropout."

The performer, who claimed he was "definitely robbed" when he picked up no trophies at the American Music Awards, also had a nomination for best new artist and shared a songwriting bid for song of the year with "Jesus Walks."

Usher and Alicia Keys, who collaborated on the hit "My Boo," followed West with eight nominations each, including album of the year for Keys' "The Diary of Alicia Keys" and Usher's "Confessions."

Ray Charles, whose posthumous duets album "Genius Loves Company," became the biggest-selling album of his long career, had seven nominations including album of the year and record of the year for "Here We Go Again," sung with Norah Jones.

Green Day garnered six bids for its hard-driving rock-punk album "American Idiot." The group was nominated for record of the year and best rock song for the title track and best rock album.

Other record of the year contenders were the mellow love song "Heaven" by Los Lonely Boys, the jumpy party song "Let's Get It Started" by the Black Eyed Peas and Usher's massive hit "Yeah!"

The best new artist class spanned soul, rap, country and pop, with nominees Gretchen Wilson, rapper West, young soul sensation Joss Stone, Los Lonely Boys and Maroon 5. ANTHONY BREZNICAN (AP)

Shot of Scotch at CBS

NEW BLOOD | Scottish actor Craig Ferguson, who played the boss on "The Drew Carey Show," will be the new host of CBS' "Late Late Show."

Ferguson passed through a gauntlet of on-air tryouts set up by Worldwide Pants, David Letterman's production company. He was one of four finalists with actor Michael Ian Black, comedian D.L. Hughley and MTV "Total Request Live" host Damien Fahey.

He replaces Craig Kilborn, who will be leaving the 12:30 a.m. talk show after five years. The "Late Late Show" trails NBC's "Late Night" with Conan O'Brien, in the ratings.

New York Daily News critic David Bianculli said in a column that Ferguson "showed more range, humor and originality than any of the others." DAVID BAUDER (AP)

NOBLES CALLING: The Lifetime network poshes up with the reality show "I Married a Princess," starring "Dynasty" beauty and gen-u-wine royal babe Catherine Oxenberg. The series will feature Oxenberg, her husband, actor Caspar Van Dien, and their children, and purports to show that the royal life is no fairy tale.

Metal's Bad Boys Play Nice

REUNIONS | The original members of the 1980s glam-metal band Motley Crüe made hard living and wild sex-capades a centerpiece of their music and their lives.

Now, after a five-year hiatus from performing together, the big-haired, leather-clad Crüe members are eager to slip back into the music, if not the lifestyle.

With support from VH1, vocalist Vince Neil, drummer Tommy Lee, guitarist Mick Mars and bass player Nikki Sixx plan a world tour beginning in February. They'll also release a double-CD greatest hits compilation with three new songs titled "Red, White & Crüe."

Motley Crüe regrouped after Sixx wrote some songs and asked Neil if he would sing them.

"We got in and we were like, 'Wow. Where's the problem here? Did we make a mountain out of a molehill?'" said Sixx. "We're a dysfunctional band ... always on the fringe of something going wrong."

STILL MOTLEY: The Crüe has kept the wild style, not the destructive habits.

In recent years, the band members have been known less for their music than their personal troubles. In 1989, Sixx nearly died from a heroin overdose. Mars is recovering from hip replacement surgery to treat a degenerative illness.

Sixx said he hopes the band can match the success other veteran acts have had in gaining younger fans: "We're making new music. We're taking chances musically. It's a really cool thing." ALEX VIEGA (AP)

IT'S NOT SO EASY TO BUY YOUR SOUL BACK: Howard Stern may be leaving terrestrial radio, but according to a Viacom executive, Infinity radio expects him to stick around through the end of the year until his contract expires.

Television

ON TV TONIGHT

RIGHT SIDE OF THE LAW
LAW & ORDER (10 p.m., NBC) Michael Imperioli ("The Sopranos") joins the cast of "Law & Order" for a short run. On tonight's episode, a suspect in a rape case winds up on the wrong side of a speeding car's bumper.

NICE GUYS FINISH FIRST
A CLAY AIKEN CHRISTMAS (8 p.m., NBC) "American Idol 2003" runner-up Clay Aiken has his own holiday special featuring Barry Manilow, Yolanda Adams and Megan Mullally.

'FASCINATING' IS JUST ANOTHER WORD FOR 'OVEREXPOSED'
BARBARA WALTERS PRESENTS: THE 10 MOST FASCINATING PEOPLE OF 2004 (9 p.m., ABC). Usher sits down for an interview along with other designated fascinator, including Oprah Winfrey, Donald Trump, Paris Hilton, Michael Moore and Boston Red Sox pitcher Curt Schilling, among others.

Runner-up Aiken proves he's got game.

THINK TANKS
100 GREATEST DISCOVERIES (8 p.m., The Science Channel) Bill Nye the science guy hosts an eight-part roundup of the "Eureka!" moments that have significantly changed the way we understand our world.

"Discoveries" is a visually compelling production featuring interviews with several Nobel Prize-winning researchers and scientists. It's worth noting that 10 of the 100 discoveries are in the field of evolution, an area of science that some people still consider a "controversial" theory.

CULT CHOICE
ANNIE GET YOUR GUN (8 p.m., TCM). Betty Hutton stars as the singing sharpshooter in this 1950 Irving Berlin musical. Hutton was hired to replace a troubled Judy Garland in a signature role made famous on stage by Ethel Merman. KEVIN MCDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE)

Cell phone sounds make beautiful music for award nominees

50 Cent

AWARDS | Now here's something we've been waiting for. The wits behind The 2004 Billboard Music Awards (8 p.m., Fox) have announced a new music category: Ringtone of the Year. These are the tunes downloaded over the Internet for use on mobile phones. George Gershwin would have been proud.

The songs nominated for the year's best ringtone include "In Da Club" and "P.I.M.P." by 50

Cent; "Dirt Off Your Shoulder," from Jay-Z; and "Hey Ya!" by OutKast. The winner will not be chosen by a faculty of ringtone-ologists, but reflects the musical snippet that achieved the highest number of legal downloads over the course of the year.

Scheduled performers include Usher, Nelly and Green Day, and special appearances by Nick Lachey, Alicia Keys, Fantasia, Ashlee Simpson, Duran Duran and Chingy. KEVIN MCDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE)

The 'multiplayer' universe is where gamers dwell online

Not long ago, in a galaxy not far away, Chip Collier was on a mission.

"I really gotta stop bleeding and dying," the 24-year old Chicagoan said, slouched in front of his computer. "I'm really horrible about not paying attention to my battle fatigue."

Collier was referring to his character in the online game Star Wars Galaxies — and his quest to find a doctor.

Collier is a University of Illinois at Chicago graduate student, but in the virtual world, he is Gestalt, a lumbering, peace-loving wookiee. Gestalt is a member of the Knights of Ash, a "guild" of about 80 worldwide Star Wars Galaxies players.

The game is one of the increasingly popular and sophisticated "massively multiplayer online role-playing games" with tens of thousands of people playing at once. These games let players create characters and socialize with strangers for a monthly fee.

'AWESOME!': Chip Collier pines for the day when his character, Gestalt, flies the galactic skies as a fighter pilot.

WOOKIEE OF THE YEAR: Owen Nelson's character runs a guild of about 80 Star Wars Galaxies players.

"A game is just another narrative," Collier said, adding that, for him, games are an outlet from the grind of everyday life.

In another mission, Gestalt mounted a speeder-bike and rode through hilly fields filled with wildflowers.

In a World Of Their Own

With fishing pole in tow, Gestalt headed toward his beach house and, later, took a transport to a mining outpost to make some online cash by killing animals.

"This is pretty much my online life — hop on a bike, go fishing, make some money, kill some stuff," Collier says. "Just doing random stuff in a virtual world, that's the point."

Players can make their characters lead solitary lives. But the game encourages people to interact, allowing characters to "sell" or barter services and help each other.

Games like this also give players leeway to be creative — in the way their characters look, the way they decorate their houses and what they spend their time doing.

Collier wants to become an online pilot "so we can fly in ships — it's frickin' awesome!" he said.

"You can learn from any person you talk to — and being online is just an extension of that," said Owen Nelson, 23, Collier's roommate and fellow gamer. "There are no borders."

In the game, he is Hotpocket, a lanky, blond-eyed Jedi wookiee with a light saber. He's also the leader of the guild.

"Owen has fame," said Collier.

Gordon Peterson

On 7's Side

Local anchorman GORDON PETERSON was online Tuesday to discuss his move to ABC 7 News after more than 30 years at Channel 9 | washingtonpost.com/liveonline

Glad to see you back. How does it feel to be with your old teammates on another station's team?

It feels like a homecoming, not only because of Doug Hill and Maureen Bunyan, but also because of the many friends I have here behind the cameras as well. I would add that I have known and admired Kathleen Matthews and Tim Brant for years, and Leon Harris and I have a number of mutual friends who think the world of him. And now I know why.

Are you sorry things turned out the way they did at Channel 9? Would you have stayed there forever?

Nothing lasts for ever. Thirty-five years is long enough in one place. I do miss my old pals over there, though. Folks who knocked themselves out to make me look good.

Did you ever think that before you retired, you'd be able to say to Tim Brant, "So, how did the Nationals do today?"

Isn't it great? I was at the last Senators game at RFK, a sad day. I accidentally ate owner Bob Short's lunch in the press box. I've never regretted it.

Can any news station make a profit off good news only? Don't you think viewers are tired of watching terrible news and the pictures that go with it?

I once heard the editor of my hometown newspaper say, "Serenity is not news." I suspect that any organization that focuses exclusively on what's working in our society as opposed to what isn't is not long for this world.

Do you "own" "Inside Washington"? I was surprised that you took the program along with you to Channel 7.

I do not "own" "Inside Washington," but my previous employer was kind enough to allow me to take the name with me, and the panel decided to follow me here as well.

Breaking the Drug Habit

IN RESPONSE TO Tuesday's story on American prescription drug use: Instead of talking about drug companies, how about calling on Americans to do the lifestyle work to avoid needing drugs. We need to take responsibility for healing ourselves.

—DAVID KAY
Herndon, Va.

'Pearls,' But No Wisdom

THANKS TO Stephan Pastis for "Pearls Before Swine" — I enjoy Pig and Rat. However, the toaster in this week's strip is not only predicting the past but was also wrong on Tuesday. Barcelona, my city, hosted the Olympics in 1992, not 1988.

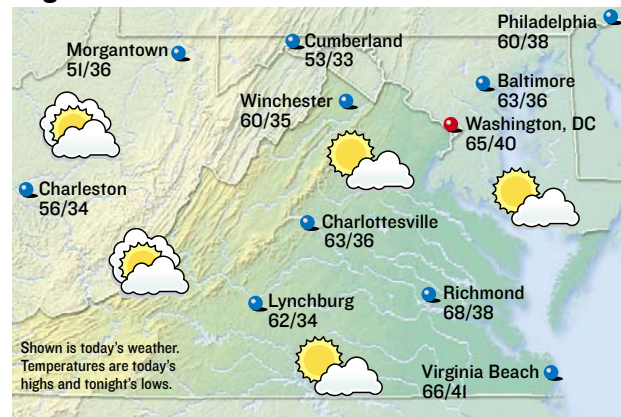

—ALBERT AMAS GENIS
Via e-mail

Stephan Pastis responds: Not only does the toaster fail to predict the future; he can't predict the past very well either. And none of my regular characters is smart enough to catch the mistake.

Tall Women Top List of Highest Earning Actresses

JULIA ROBERTS is a mommy with big money. The actress, who recently gave birth to twins, tops The Hollywood Reporter's annual list of the highest-paid actresses. Her asking price per film? $20 million. "Charlie's Angels" star Cameron Diaz is second (she also sports a $20 million price tag but didn't appear in any films in 2004) with Nicole Kidman, Reese Witherspoon and Drew Barrymore (all worth $15 million each) rounding out the top five. Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen share the 85th spot. (AP)

THRILLERS

Like Tom Clancy, Only Dull

Former CIA Director GEORGE TENET has agreed to terms with the Crown Publishing Group to write his memoirs, ending an extensive bidding war that involved more than a dozen publishers. Financial terms were not disclosed Monday, but a rival publisher said bidding "easily" topped $4 million. Books by former CIA officials have to be cleared by the agency, but Tenet's former spokesman at the CIA said he was "confident that the director will be able to be candid, without running into any difficulties with the clearance process." ## Outstanding Distributor David Cavanaugh

Every morning I take the metro from U Street Cardozo and every morning I receive the Express from David. He is always smiling, talking to people, wishing them a good day. He makes my day every morning—for those brief interactions I have with him. Even when I come late on the metro and he is 'off-duty', David will come and give me a paper. I love reading the Express on my morning commute, but I love getting my paper from David every morning even more. While I am not fully awake in the morning, I really appreciate the warm welcome and the friendliness that he shares. I wanted to let you know what a wonderful asset he is to your team.

On Dec. 8, the United States entered World War II as Congress declared war against Japan, a day after the attack on Pearl Harbor; also, in 1980, rock star John Lennon was shot to death by an apparently deranged fan.

Yesterday's Solution

Horoscope

By Stella Wilder

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't let distractions keep you from your charted course. It's OK to look right and left, but keep moving forward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll find sound advice where you least expect it, and before you know it, you'll be able to pass it on to an eager young pupil.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It's time you understood with greater sensitivity just what others are up to and, as a result, what your role is or might be.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Most captivating may prove, ultimately, to be the most dangerous as well. Move steadily, but with caution.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't make the mistake of forsaking judgment for a quick thrill. The consequences may be costly and lasting.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Safety is a prime issue. Do not endanger yourself or others unduly in the name of experimentation or discovery.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Just because you can doesn't mean you should. There are some things best avoided. Trust instincts and experience.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Portions of your day will be spent in hiding from your emotional state. In the end, you'll realize you can face yourself with confidence.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Never the type to back down without a fight, you may nevertheless decide today is the day to put up or shut up in more ways than one.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A cryptic message will come your way. Consider the all-around consequences of your words and actions. Don't be rash this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You may have difficulty pinpointing the emotional current you're riding. The winds of change are starting to blow.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) With care and concentration, you can accomplish what many expect to be impossible. You have a different definition of success.
